

PRF staff feedback

Reflections on Eliza Tait as a intern from four senior staff at the Paul Ramsay Foundation

On a scale of 1–5, how would you rate your overall experience working with me?

	1	2	3	4	5
Poor	☐	☐	☐	☐	☒	Excellent

What three words would you use to describe my approach to work?

Curious, proactive, willing

What could I do differently in the future to improve my work/communication?

Follow up, push in on things if no follow up is given to you

As someone with experience in the not-for-profit/philanthropy sector, what would be your greatest piece of advice for me as I begin my university studies?

Always listen and make the connections, never lead with solutions

Any other feedback you'd like to share?

Pleasure working with you, cheers, Michelle

Find something you love. If you have an interest in and are passionate about something- follow it. Don't think you need to cater to other areas that you feel may not be as knowledgeable or interested in. Double down on what you love but also be curious.

It's been a pleasure. You've made me more curious around your neurodivergence. Your parents have done a wonderful job and tell them that every day. :-) Nath

Keep doing what you are doing. You are respectful in your communication, whilst also being confident to share your opinions.

As someone with experience in the not-for-profit/philanthropy sector, what would be your greatest piece of advice for me as I begin my university studies?

Keep being curious, ask questions, and ask for help, take risks without fear of failing - now is the time to explore your interests, build your network, and have fun!

I am impressed with your calm, thoughtful, and confident approach to work. I love that you ask for clarification, and ask for help/review, this means you are efficient with your time. You grasp new ideas quickly, and make insightful contributions. You are able to juggle multiple tasks with little supervision. You mix well with your colleagues. I admire your passion and dedication to making a difference. Thank you for your contribution and best of luck for uni!
